Describe a challenge you encountered during your internship and how you approached overcoming it.
What did you learn from this experience?

A challenge I have encountered during my internship is the JavaScript that I added to my website not working. I overcame it by simply asking the person who was leading the GitHub skills lab session about the problem, and I learned that in Computer Science and Engineering, sometimes complex problems have very simple solutions that might not be obvious. You can change one part of the equation and suddenly, everything falls into place.
